

Dear Readers,

I hope this letter finds you well.

I am the author DANNY CHUNG DOES NOT TO MATHS! It won the Branford Boase Award (for outstanding debut children's novel and my editor Georgia won too!) AND the Jhalak Prize (for the best writers of colour in the U.K.). It also was shortlisted for the last ever Blue Peter Book Awards and was on the tele!

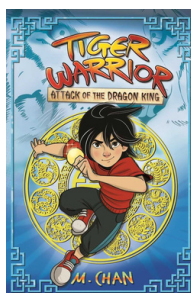

If you don't like maths then you might like my book! And if you do like maths, then you might also like my book! It's about friendship, family and there is a LOT of BINGO in it!

Many readers LOVE Nai Nai who is Danny's newly arrived gran from China. She loves eating fruit, especially lychees! Do you know what they look like? It also has some of Danny's cool drawings like the one below which was illustrated by Anh Cao. It's a 'Druckon' half duck and half Chinese dragon! Can you come up with a hybrid creature like Danny? One half one thing and half another?

I LOVE to read! I hope you do too. Reading helps me escape real life, it comforts me when I'm down and books have helped me throughout my life. It depends what mood I'm in but I like to read funny books, adventure, fantasy, realistic books and graphic novels. What kind of books do you like?

Keep reading!
